The content prior to the video had options for everyone. I would have liked to see the actual algorithms and for the video component, if the speaker moved beyond nursing home patients or added an example or two from the ambulatory setting, it would have appealed to a broader audience.
It's good material but is it too long? I wouldn't know what to cut but I think the staff might appreciate less detail on the powerpoint slides, especially since they don't match exactly what is being sent.
