all fire companys should be able to purchase scba bottles from any dealer without niosh regulations -saying the hole scba pack has to be one unit to gain niosh approved- any bottle company should be able to have there own niosh approved bottle -most are already dot approved-niosh has cost many dept to buy complete scba packs- because of there big companys regulatory agenda !im looking at 30 yr bottles now-about 40-same company that you will not approve- because you say has to be a complete unit-what bull!
